County Ignores Council Brush Off Bookie Investigation Continues

Marchbanks Park Bldg. Disgrace To Community

IMMEDIATE REPAIRS NEEDED

Recreation Commission Calls For Improvements

A crying need for immediate repairs on the recreation house at Marchbanks Park was evident today from pictures taken on the scene by The Record.

Such a recommendation has been made to the city council by the Daly City Recreation Commission.

In suggesting immediate improvements the Commission pointed out that the house is now "run down" and in generally "poor condition."

Bad Shape

Upon visiting the clubhouse recently a Record reporter noted: The showers and lavatories are in such a state as to make them practically unsanitary.

The outside of the building is

Residents Confused Over New Signals

* * * * * *

State Official Claims They're O. K.

Contrary to public opinion, the new set of traffic signals on "top of the hill" are properly synchronized, according to Mr. B. F. Bongera of the California Division of Highways.

Mr. Moses, resident engineer, said a scientific study has been made of the area, and the present set up is designed to provide maximum protection for the individual.

Although the myriad of green, yellow, and red lights, plus the additional neon WAIT-WALK indicators are somewhat confusing to pedestrians and drivers, time and patience should prove the signals' value, Mr. Bongara indicated.

He said that criticism on the part of local citizens is natural until they become accustomed to the signals' operation.

One of the most intricate signal installations in San Mateo or San Francisco county, this three-phase, traffic actuated network should alleviate the severe traffic problem in Daly City.

The three-phase set-up is keyed to traffic and not pedestrians, Mr. Bongera emphasized.

One movement includes south-bound Mission and Bepler street traffic; the second movement includes south-bound San Jose and north-bound Mission street traffic; and the third movement includes traffic from Wellington avenue and Hillcrest drive.

A time lag develops between the operation of the three phases. This time lapse is the aspect which is so galling to most pedestrians and drivers.

THIEVES RAID HOME HERE FOR JEWELRY

Several articles of jewelry were stolen from the Albert Laun home at 3316 San Jose avenue, it was reported to Daly City police last Friday night.

The house was first entered through the back door leading to the basement. Then the glass on this door was broken by the culprit and the inside latch opened.

TIPOFFS BRUSHED OFF BY COUNCIL AT MONDAY MEET

Bungling Blamed For Raid Failures

At a special meeting of the Daly City council Monday night, councilmen blamed "bungling" more than tipoffs for the flop of two bookie raids here recently.

The council gave a clean bill of health to Chief of Police W. W. Sunderland and his department.

At the same time the county grand jury, meeting in Redwood City, decided to take no initiative on th mystery of who allegedly tippe off the bookies. Spokesman Thomas B. Foster said the jury would act only if presented with more information by the district attorney.

First Hand

Whether this information would be forthcoming depended on future developments in Daly City, Louis B. Dematteis, district attorney, indicated.

Dematteis, his chief criminal investigator, A. L. Lamport, and Inspector Paul Jensen of the sheriff's office were present at the Monday night council meeting.

They met to get "first hand information" on the raids July 24 and July 27.

Councilman A. J. Gaggero reported that if anyone was to blame for a tipoff it came from San Francisco. He added that the county officials had agreed that a tipoff couldn't have been given locally.

Bungling

"Bungling" was the word Councilman Fred Bertetta used to explain the flop of the raids. He said when the house at 27 Woodrow street was hit, county officers admitted they made a mistake by not leaving a man at the house when they went to call to ascertain if bets were to be taken. While they were calling, the bookie made an exit.

"As for the raid on 379 Irvington street, the evening before San Francisco police had come out, but finding it on the Daly City side they called county officials," Councilman Bertetta said. "As it was too late to make the raid that evening, the officers waited until Friday afternoon."

Again, the bookies were gone.

Councilman A. J. Gaggero said the net result of the meeting was a need for closer cooperation between local and county officials. He said a meeting would be called within the next two weeks to formulate plans for such cooperation.

FOGVILLE GAINS MORE SUPPORT

THE BIG THREE who are making it hot for local bookies these days are, left to right: A. L. Lamport, chief criminal investigator for the district attorney's office; District Attorney Louis B. Dematteis and Inspector Paul Jensen of the sheriff's office. All three men appeared at a closed session of the city council Monday evening to hear what councilmen had to say about alleged tipoffs.

PHONES, WIRES JERKED FROM SUSPECTED JOINTS

Moving in where city officials evidently feared to tread, the district attorney's office this week dealt a death blow to local bookie activities.

With the assistance of the Pacific Telegraph and Telephone Company, officers from the district attorney's office and sheriff's office began a wholesale inspection of phones in suspected bookie joints.

Local police, who were notified of the action Wednesday afternoon, were conspicuous for their absence in the work of taking out dead phones and telephone wires.

Not Notified

City councilmen contacted said they had not been informed of the pending move. However, Councilman Fred Bertetta said the council has asked for cooperation of the telephone company at a special meeting held Monday evening.

District Attorney Louis Dematteis said the crack down had been touched off by two unsuccessful raids at 27 Woodrow, July 24 and at 379 Irvington, July 27.

"We are going to make a definite effort to stop bookie activities in Daly City," DeMatteis said today.

He said there were about "a couple of dozen" places to be inspected for suspected bookie telephones. He added the inspection would take several days.

The Daly City investigation is being led by Douglas Hayden, chief of the PT&T special agents. He is being assisted by A. L. Lamport, chief criminal investigator for the district attorney, and Inspector Paul Jensen of the Sheriff's office.

As of noon Thursday only one of eight places visited showed definite signs of a bookie operation. However, at several other business locations on Mission Street wires which could be tapped for phones were removed.

The investigation is expected to continue until Saturday, and all potential wires that could be tapped will be removed.

At 11 and 18 E. Moltke street the officers found definite signs of bookie activity, Lamport reported.

More Found

In addition to two phones, officers found connections for six more phones, racks for holding clip sheets and other bookie paraphernalia.

Officers could not say when the bookie joint had been closed down, and there was not enough evidence to warrant an arrest.

"However, from what we have found this must have been quite an operation," Hayden said.

City files show the two homes are owned by Cesare Agresti at 11

JEFFERSON HIGH BOARD CUT TAXES

10c Lopped Off Tax Bill For Coming Year

Taxpayers are going to save from $2 to $3 next year for support of the Jefferson High School district.

Peter J. Markovich, chairman of the board of trustees, said the tax rate for 1951-52 will be approximately $1.25 as compared to $1.35 for previous years.

This is the greatest single reduction in a tax rate in the history of the district, Markovich said.

The move has been made possible through a surplus balance in the budget and the increased assessed valuation of the district, which is now over $3,000,000.

Careful Deliberation

"Upon checking the surplus, and after some deliberation the board voted the 10c reduction," Markovich said.

"The board's paramount interest is to operate the high school in the most economical way possible without any hindrance to the high educational standards the school maintains."

The tax cut was approved at the regular meeting of the board last Thursday. Another matter of vital importance at the meeting was approval of a $30,000 draft for part payment on the Pappas property in Sharp Park. It is here, at some future date, that a new high school for the coast district is to be built.

And in this action the board gave residents a view of things to come. Next year the tax rate will go up from 50c to 75c to meet cost of building a new high school on Skyline boulevard as well as improving existing facilities. Residents voted their approval of the measure earlier this year.

CITY COUNCIL MEETS MONDAY, AUGUST 13

Daly City residents were reminded today that the regular meeting of the city council will be held Monday, August 13, at City Hall, 75 Wellington avenue.

The meeting gets underway at 8 o'clock.

All residents, or representatives of local clubs and organizations, are urged to attend this meeting.

Councilman Jim Kennedy today said he hoped the number of people attending the meetings would increase.

"It is a healthy sign that more residents are taking an interest in their council meetings," Councilman Kennedy said. "Some, at least, are awakening to the fact that the best way to make democracy work is to take part in that democracy."

Runaway Car Gets Attention

Receiving double attention from the Daly City police Tuesday was Mrs. Colleen Zak, 836 Templeton street.

Officers were called after Mrs. Zak's car had run downhill, jumped the curb and ended up straddling the curb and sidewalk in such a manner that a tow car had to be called to remove the Zak vehicle.

Then Mrs. Zak was issued a citation for violation of the code that requires safe parking on a hill.

Eagles' Picnic

ANNUAL AFFAIR SLATED SUNDAY

All Eagles and their friends this week were invited to attend the annual picnic Sunday, August 12.

Long one of the biggest attractions of the summer, the Colma Vista Grande Aerie No. 1848 picnic promises to be the best ever this year.

It will be held at Roger Reynolds Nursery Park, one mile south of Redwood City on El Camino Real.

Admission is by ticket only for adults. Children are admitted free.

The ticket is an investment in a beautiful 16 inch television set. In addition, ticket holders will be eligible for all the beer they can consume as well as free dancing.

For the children the picnic will mean free ice cream and soda as well as a variety of games.

Tickets may be purchased thru any Aerie officer, or by calling: PL 5-0504; PL 5-2647; JU 5-0436; JU 5-0436.

COUNTY MOVES ON BOOKIES

E. Moltke and Louis Pagano at 18 E. Moltke.

Although both Lamport and Jensen are taking part in the work, both men said they doubted if any arrests would be made.

The purpose of pulling the wires and phones is to cut off any outlets bookies may have. Without phones they are practically put out of work.

At both Irvington and Woodrow, scene of two previous raids, the bookies had tapped onto the wires that had once led to phones.

Best Curb

Dematteis said that taking out phones was one of the best curbs on bookie activities.

Although local police are not taking part in the work, they were notified of the action Wednesday afternoon. Hayden spoke to Sgt. Bill Bolger and told him of the pending action. When Hayden asked him "if this will be alright," Sgt. Bolger replied, "We'll talk that over when you get here."

Chief of Police W. W. Sunderland could not be contacted, as he is now on a two weeks vacation. He is expected to return August 21.

First Move

Police files show the county's action is the first move to curb bookies here in the past two years. Late in 1949 the state moved in and closed one bookie joint here. There is no record of any bookie raids by local authorities in over three years, although over this period the telephone company was requested to shut down a score of telephones.

Despite this record, within three weeks the county has turned up three definite bookie joints in Daly City as well as indications that many more were in operation here.

Councilman Fred Bertetta said today he would call for a second investigation Monday evening to further explore the bookie racket here.

Investigation

"We want to get down to the bottom of this, and I, for one, intend to do something about it," Bertetta said.

Other councilmen could not be reached for comment, although following the Monday night meeting they said further meetings would be called to discuss the bookie situation. Councilman A. J. Gaggero earlier had said such a conclave would be held within two or three weeks.

When they do meet the council is expected to ask:

1. How could possibly a half-dozen bookie joints be operating in an alleged "clean town."
2. Why, until now by county authorities, hasn't any action been taken against these bookies.
3. What measures can be enacted to curb bookie activities here. (Although the district attorney's office has almost answered this question by jerking excess lines and phones.)

The answers to those questions were anyone's guess, but it appeared certain things were going to get much hotter for bookies in Daly City over the weeks ahead.

Residents Confused Over New Signals

They wait and wait and push the indicator button with no apparent success. Most people fail to understand that each movement of traffic must complete its cycle before the indicator flashes WALK.

Police Chief Sunderland, Mr. Bongera, and Mr. Moses emphasized that the pedestrian will have more time to cross an intersection if he uses the indicator buttons. The indicators are regulated so that when the button is used there is a greater interval between signals.

Pedestrians should proceed across the street when the indicator flashes WALK, but they should not leave the curb when the indicator flashes WAIT. There is ample time to walk across an intersection, Mr. Bongera reiterated.

Many people are confused by the WAIT signal which flashes when pedestrians are in the middle of the crosswalk. This WAIT signal is only a warning to pedestrians that they shouldn't tarry. They may continue walking across the street in absolute safety, Mr. Bongera pointed out.

To many people, pedestrians and drivers, the new signal network is a farce. Comments such as "Isn't this signal business a nuisance?" or "I don't know why they installed these signals ...they don't seem to help," are typical peeves.

The system, at this stage, either amuses people or frustrates them to the point of violating the signals.

Even vehicle operators become distraught and edge their vehicles forward in premature expectation of the GO signal, but a stepped-up synchronization of the whole system may solve this problem, Mr. Bongera explained.

The old pedestrian crossing from the Bank of America across Mission street will be discontinued under the present system. The new crossing which extends to Wellington avenue was built at great cost after deliberate planning.

At the present time, the four-day-old project is still under the supervision and maintenance of the contractor. State control and maintenance will be administered as soon as possible, Mr. Bongera declared.

The first week of operation, according to Mr. Bongera, is the test period in which all the mistakes must be straightened out.

A state subvention in the form of gas taxes is responsible for about 75 per cent of the $67,500 construction cost of the project. The remaining 25 per cent was paid by Daly City.

Eventually, when people resolve to utilize the push-button operation of the WALK-WAIT indicators and abide by the signals, the whole network will function smoothly, Mr. Bongera said.

Thirty-seven California counties will have colorful exhibits at the California State Fair, August 30 through September 9, showing the wealth of the state's agriculture and industry.

The Line-Up

F.B.I. SEEKS KEY MEN OF COMMUNIST PARTY NOW AT LARGE IN NATION

Alert citizens and law enforcement agencies throughout the Nation have been requested by the FBI to assist in locating Robert George Thompson, one of the convicted Communist Party leaders who are now fugitives from justice. A description of Thompson is as follows:

Age, 36; born June 21, 1915, at Grants Pass, Oregon; height, 5' 9½"; weight, 170 pounds; eyes, dark brown; hair, brown, thick, straight; complexion, light; build, muscular; race, White; nationality, American; scars and marks, bullet wound left knee, appendectomy.

His complexion is sallow and he walks with a slight hop or limp from the wound in his left knee. In the past he has driven a 1948 green Chrysler four-door sedan, New York license 4 C 5674.

Machine Operator

He has worked as a machine operator in a linoleum factory in California and as a laborer in a cannery. He has also worked at wheat harvesting and lumbering in Oregon. He speaks slowly and usually carries a brief case.

Thompson was convicted on October 14, 1949, for violation of the Smith Act, and was sentenced to three years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine. A bench warrant was issued for his arrest on July 2, 1951, when he failed to appear in Federal Court for commitment to prison.

Any person having information which may assist in locating Thompson is requested to immediately notify the nearest FBI office. The phone number will appear on the first page of the phone book.

Gus Hall, 40

Gus Hall is another of the Communist Party leaders who have been convicted for violation of the Smith Act, and are presently fugitives from justice. A description of Hall is as follows:

Age, 40; born October 8, 1910, at Virginia, Minnesota; height, 5' 11"; weight, 220 pounds; eyes, blue-grey; hair, light brown; complexion, fair; build, heavy; race, White; nationality, American; scars and marks, small scar on left thumb; two pockmarks on left cheek, mole on right side of neck.

Hall sometimes wears a mustache. He leans forward at the shoulders when he walks, drinks large amounts of coffee, and usually rests his elbows on the table holding the cup at lip level. He laughs easily and is described as being rather boisterous. He speaks in a husky tone, but at a high pitched level. He seldom wears a hat. His eyes have a staring appearance. He likes to hunt, fish, and play golf.

Any person having information which would assist in locating Gus Hall is requested to immediately notify the nearest FBI office. The phone number will appear on the first page of the phone directory.

Gilbert Green, 44

Gilbert Green, Chairman of District 8 of the Communist Party, Chicago, Illinois, is one of the Communist leaders convicted for violation of the Smith Act who are fugitives from justice as a result of the forfeiture of their bonds in the Federal District Court in New York City on July 2, 1951. His description is as follows:

Age, 44; born September 24, 1906, Chicago, Illinois; height, 5'6"; weight, 150 pounds; eyes, hazel; hair, black, curly, high forehead; complexion, dark; build, medium; race, White; nationality, American.

Green is a quiet, convincing speaker, and is not given to outburst of emotion except on rare occasions. His appearance is neat and he frequently wears brown suits and flashy ties. He likes to chew gum and smoke cigarettes occasionally. He has been known to drive a 1950 four-door Chevrolet sedan. He also travels by air. In the past he has worked as a writer, lecturer, electrician, and machine shop worker.

Any person having information which may assist in the location of Gilbert Green is requested to immediately notify the nearest FBI office. The phone number will appear on the first page of the telephone directory.

Sidney Steinberg, 36

Sidney Steinberg, Assistant National Labor Secretary of the Communist Party, USA, who was indicted by a Federal Grand Jury at New York City on June 20, 1951, on a charge of conspiracy to advocate the violent overthrow of the government, is being sought as a fugitive from justice by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. His description is as follows:

Age, 36, born September 16, 1914, Otenos Kaundas, Lithuania; height, 5'6"; weight, 157 pounds; build, medium; hair, brown; eyes, blue; complexion, light; race, White, nationality, American.

Steinberg, who used the name, Sid Stein, in connection with his Communist Party work, resided at Jackson Heights, Long Island, New York, prior to his disappearance. From April, 1930, to September, 1932, he resided in Worcester, Massachusetts, and prior to assuming his duties as a full-time functionary of the Communist Party, Steinberg worked as a meat cutter in New York and New Jersey. He attended grammar and high school in Lithuania and was naturalized in March, 1938, in New York City. He has been in the Communist Party since about 1936, and was at one time an organizer in New Jersey. He also held other offices in the Communist Party in Camden County, New Jersey, and in 1945 became Chairman of the New Jersey State Communist Party. His parents, two sisters, and three brothers reside at Worchester, Massachusetts Steinberg claimed at one time that he had a heart murmur.

Any person having information which may assist in locating Sidney Steinberg is requested to immediately notify the nearest FBI office. The phone number will appear on the first page of the telephone directory.

San Francisco Studies Fair

Thomas A. Brooks, Chief Administrative Officer of San Francisco, this week is examining the possibility of a County Fair in San Francisco.

The Board of Supervisors, in a resolution asking Brooks to "consider the feasibility" of holding an annual county fair, indicated it believed such an event, held in Golden Gate Park, could feature industrial exhibits and include sports events and competitions, recreational and educational features.

Supervisor Dan Gallagher, who introduced the resolution, pointed out hat similar fairs are produced with State pari-mutuel racing funds in other counties and should be held here, too.

KATHLEEN NORRIS
Proud Hypocrite

"WHEN LIL and I were first married we had a lot of fun," writes a 34-year-old husband from Wichita. "We danced, we had a gang of pals, we had wedding present checks to fix us up in a nice place, and, darn it," Carter Neill goes on youthfully, "Lil wore pretty things, we went off for summer week-ends, well—we had fun! It makes me mad to look at the old snapshots in her books. Swimming, tennis, weeny roasts, beaches, and the rest.

"Now it's nine years since we've had any of that. I make twice as much money, but we never have a cent. Do you want to know the reason? I'll tell you. It's Babby, 9, Tom, 8, Patricia and Penelope, 5, Gary, 3 and Kittens, 1. Yessir, we have six of 'em. Twenty-four meals a day, how's that? And enough cookies and chocolate bars and potato chips in between meals to set up a grocery.

"Last winter we had whooping cough in November, and the coughs stopped at Easter. We thought we were going to lose Penny. Lil has a washing machine, bought with some of the thousand her father left her, and Babby's a swell help. But my kick is that there is never a moment of peace in this house. If it isn't yelling from Kittens, it's Patsy and Pen tearing things to pieces, Tom crying because he doesn't like his teacher, everyone asking if he or she mayn't have a pal overnight or go somewhere overnight. The big ones think we spoil the little ones, and the little ones raise the roof if the big ones are going to a Saturday movie without them.

By the Book

"I bought a book," this harassed parent continues, "about how to raise children the modern way.

"... we had fun ..."

Well, Lil and I simply can't handle that. We don't go in for inhibitions and complexes. When Tom brought a $5 bill from school and said he found it, I took it back, and Tom got whaled. When Babby set up a martyr complex and said she would not go to a party in her old dress, Lil told her that was all right, she needn't go. She went, by the way; I took her. And she was the prettiest kid there.

"We have a good-sized place, fruit trees, and a shed I'm going to turn into a theater for them someday. They're good kids, too. But sometimes I think I'd like just a few weeks of the old freedom and the old fun, and to see Lil when she isn't possessed by anxiety for one or the other of the kids. What's life worth if you have to spend every cent you make for shoes, pancakes, cough medicine and didy dolls?"

The writer of this letter, Carter Neill, is a hypocrite, and I think I would love him. He is bursting with pride in his four adorable little girls and his two sons, as what sane man wouldn't be? But maybe he was tired on the Sunday morning when he wrote me, and maybe the youngsters were raising the roof, and maybe it was raining.

Most Important Job

Carter and Lil Neill have engaged in the most important business in the world. Of course it's a tiring and expensive and nerve-racking job, what else could it be? Of course it takes every bit of money they have, and the money is the least of it.

But what a harvest they'll reap as these babies grow into lovely youth, and they have girls and boys in the house, turning to them, helping them paying them back hours of happiness for every one of today's minutes of care.

Growing up is a painful business. But if every couple who married saw marriage as a time of growing up, a chance to be better and stronger and less selfish in the new life, what a world we'd have! There are a great many vocations and employments for women today, but Lil has the best of them.

Years of rest are ahead for Lil and Carter. And what will be one of the heartaches of those years? Why, looking back to just such mornings as the one on which Carter wrote me his good-natured, tongue-in-the-cheek complaint.

He and Lil will turn over the photograph albums then with a longing backward look at the days when they brought Kittens home from the hospital and Tom broke his leg and Penny strolled away and was lost all day.

If anything in life is worth while, the nursery is worth while. If anything in life fills the hearts of a man and woman with a joy that no other earthly sensation touches, it's when their children are about them, and the line of little faces looks up grinning over its oatmeal. Carter knows he is lucky.

badly in need of paint.

A fence is needed to keep the children off the roof of the building. Not only is the present condition a danger to the youngsters, but it also has resulted in several holes in the roof of the building.

Delays Work

The Commission, in all fairness to city officials, observed that the condition had been known for some time, but not corrected as plans had called for new showers and lavatories in another section of the park.

However, the high cost of building materials has put a damper on these plans and the Commission has requested the present club house be improved.

Some action is expected at the regular meeting of the city council Monday evening.

Also the council is expected to shortly report on the advisability of moving the recreation building from 101 Parkview to the middle level of Marchbanks.

These, and other recommendations were made by the Recreation Commission at their regular meeting July 31.

TWO INJURED ON HILLSIDE BLVD.

4-Year-Old Struck By Hit-Run Driver

(Ed Note: See editorial and citizen's poll on Hillside Boulevard death trap.)

A 4-year-old girl and a man narrowly escaped death last weekend on Hillside Boulevard. Both suffered injuries in the accidents.

Struck down on Hillside Boulevard last Thursday afternoon, Dale Ann Henise, age 4, of 230 Abbott street, was rushed to the Junipero Serra hospital in a Daly City ambulance.

There she was treated for the bruises she sustained on her leg when knocked down by the hit and run driver.

Notification that a child had been hurt by traffic on Hillside boulevard, was received by the Daly City police when they were phoned by the B & G Grocery, 584 Hillside boulevard, about the accident.

Arriving on the scene, officers discovered that after Dale had purchased an ice cream cone at the grocery, she had started to cross Hillside boulevard, only to be hit by a passing vehicle. The impact threw the child to the pavement, rolling her into the curb.

Witness

A witness to the accident, Mrs. L. B. McGeein of 567 Hillside boulevard stated that the car that hurt the child was light colored and a late model. It continued south on Hillside boulevard.

Another accident on Hillside boulevard which resulted in John Miletak, 333 Peoria street, being taken to the Junipero Serra hospital in a Daly City ambulance, occurred early Saturday morning at the intersection of Hillside and Gambetta street. Following treatment at the hospital, Miletak was taken to his home in a police car.

Miletak was driving south on Hillside when his car was in collison with the rear of a car belonging to Robert Spitzer, 364 Hillside boulevard which was parked in front of the Spitzer home.

The impact knocked the Spitzer car onto the front lawn of William Steven, at 370 Hillside boulevard. The other car went out of control and after skidding across Hillside boulevard stopped on the front lawn of the residence of A. N. Stark, 399 Hillside boulevard.

HE IS A STRAY WITH A NEW HOME

He may be just another stray pooch but because he's long on personality he's found himself a good home with Mrs. W. Hebrank, 322 Oliver street—unless a former owner shows up.

Mrs. Hebrank reported to Daly City police Monday morning that about three days ago this dog came to her home and that she's been caring for him ever since. He has no license, and she would like to keep him if the police are unable to locate his owner.

The dog is part cocker spaniel and his coat is of black and white, and it's a he.

Cocker Spaniel Makes Last Dash

Darting in front of a truck last Thursday afternoon the cocker spaniel dog belonging to Mrs. Ruth Rogers, 285 Citrus avenue, was killed.

The driver of the truck who was held blameless carried the animal to the Rogers yard from where he was removed to the Daly City pound.

Colorado Springs has been called "the most popular tourist center in the Rocky Mountains.

EVERYBODY GOT INTO THE "ENTERING" ACT

Help of both the Daly City police and fire department was necessary to assist Mrs. Lawrence Sadd, 419 Niantic avenue, get into her locked home last Friday afternoon.

After the local officers responded to Mrs. Sadd's call, it was discovered that a ladder was needed for the job of entering the locked house and the fire department was contacted. The hose hoisters supplied the ladder that enabled the Daly City woman to enter the shelter of her house.

LINES OF JAMMED CARS ON SAN JOSE and Mission Streets seem to have resulted from the installation of the new signals on "top of the hill." The state engineers seem to think this is normal (see page 1), but The Record and many citizens have other ideas. (Photo by Pat Corner)

In Place Of A Danger, A Nuisance

With the initiation of the new traffic signals at the "top of the hill" it became obvious this week that one danger had been overcome, but a new nuisance introduced.

The danger thwarted was the constant threat of wrecks without adequate signals.

The nuisance was, and is, the timing of the signals. At the 5 o'clock rush, cars are lined up for over two blocks on San Jose avenue as they try to make it "over the hill" to Mission and El Camino Real.

It appears that one pedestrian, merely by tripping the signal with a button, can block traffic for blocks. Also, the lights are poorly set.

We are sure local authorities, in cooperation with the state, soon will overcome this additional threat to the sanity of men always in a hurry.

While we are on the subject, something must be done to re-educate pedestrians as to the new cross walk from the Bank of America to the other side of Mission Street. Under the new set-up the pedestrian can no longer make a direct crossing, but must take a diagonal path from the bank to the corner of Wellington and Mission.

This procedure was the recommendation of the state, and no doubt serves a good purpose. However, until pedestrians get use to the change we would suggest the stop signals and blinkers continue to operate at the Bank-Mission crossing.

Broadmoor Residents Find Meaning of Friendship

In an age when the pass word is "knife him," it is indeed gratifying to know that a group of complete strangers can meet on common ground to assist themselves and the community as a whole.

This is the case of the Broadmoor parents who are now making plans for a cooperative nursery this fall. They have been drawn together by a common need, and have displayed an amazing amount of energy to assure the success of their endeavor.

BUT MORE IMPORTANT even than the nursery is the smashing of the barriers which often make the next door neighbor a complete stranger. These people, all total strangers two months ago, have found new friends and faith in the meaning of friendship.

Incidentally, you can meet this happy band by attending the barn dance they are giving August 18. Further details can be found elsewhere in The Record.

Let's Break A Rule Before It Breaks Our Necks

Either the state highway department is so wrapped up in rules that it can't take time out to save lives, or the city officials are failing to exercise their collective persuasive powers.

That's about the only conclusion we can reach on the traffic situation on Hillside Boulevard and the Alemany Extension in Westlake.

Both of these busy streets are considered state highways. Accordingly no signals or stop signs can be put up to regulate the constant flow of traffic. At least so say city officials, and from what we've been able to learn it appears to be so.

In fact, it was only last month that the city pushed through a measure to cut the speed limit on Alemany from 50 m.p.h. to 35. This, in spite of the fact that the street runs directly through Westlake, a community housing over 4,000 residents.

On Hillside Boulevard there always has been a 35 m.p.h. limit, but unfortunately most drivers overlook this item. From what we have been able to ascertain local police officers do their best to keep things in check, but, after all, they have other parts of the city to patrol, too.

The only real answer for both Westlake and Hillside routes is signals and stop signs.

City officials claim the state won't allow these.

However, only last week-end a youngster and a man were almost killed in accidents on Hillside; and similar wrecks are daily occurrences on the Alemany Extension.

Something here doesn't quite make sense. It doesn't add up that because of a state rule (probably good 99 per cent of the time) children and their elders should risk death.

Every rule was made to break, and we believe the city should sound off loud and clear before those same rules break someone's neck.

Taxpayers Get A Welcome (Temporary) Relief

It wasn't much, but the principle behind the cut was enough to give every taxpayer a welcome relief from a trend of more and more taxes.

We speak of the announcement this week by the Jefferson High School Board of Trustees, mainly that 10 cents has been whacked off the tax bill for the district for 1951-52. The old portion of the county taxes for the high school district was $1.35. During the next fiscal year it will go down to $1.25.

This has been made possible through a larger tax base, i. e. more residents, the increase in assessed valuations, and the diligence of the high school board.

Come this fiscal year the rest of the county probably will be footing a tax bill of something like $5, while ours will be nearer to $4.90. In other words the average tax payer will save $2 to $3 a year on taxes during 1951-52.

According to the chairman of the high school board, Peter Markovich, the board felt the taxpayer should get a break this year. And that cut was made possible, might we add, because the board has managed to do an excellent job of running the district.

But it's only a temporary break in a trend. Next year, 1952-53, the school tax will jump 50 to 75c. This will meet the bill for building a second much needed high school near Skyline Boulevard.

The Holes Are Showing In The City's Recreation Program

We once had a friend who spent hundreds of dollars on clothing although somehow he never got around to mending the hole in his sock.

The city's park program reminds us of this friend. Over the past two years some $100,000 has been spent to improve recreation facilities here. However, in the excitement the existing parks seem to have been overlooked...or at least the small, but nevertheless important units of those parks.

The city's suit looks nice, but the socks have big holes.

Specifically, we refer to Marchbanks Park and the recreation house there.

As pictures elsewhere in this paper illustrate, the house now resembles something closer to a dump than a proper place for children to play.

It was the intention of the city at one time to build showers and toilet facilities at another section of Marchbanks Park. The war and the high cost of materials has ruined this plan.

Therefore, it becomes imperative to make the most of what we have...to take immediate steps to clean up and remodel the existing facilities.

This recommendation was made last week by the newly created Daly City Recreation Commission. In finding the "holes" in the recreation program's "socks," the members of that commission showed immediately a real interest in the non-paying jobs they had assumed.

The next step is up to the city council. We hope they will be quick to act on improving the miserable conditions of the Marchbanks building.

Also not to be forgotten are the other recommendations of the Commission, most of which appear to us to be sound propositions.

Just how important these parks and recreation facilities are to each and every citizen of the community was aptly illustrated by Recreation Director Elman Rose at the Commission meeting. He noted that in the first six weeks of the summer program over 44,000 children had availed themselves of the parks program.

We believe the city and the council are to be congratulated for providing the facilities for these children. However, let's not lose sight of the importance of maintaining existing buildings.

And above all we hope the recommendations of the Commission aren't shelved and forgotten...as were so many worthy suggestions made by the Recreation Board that recently went out of existence.

IN NO MAN'S LAND

Beachland Park

Lack Of Interest Stifles Suggestion That City Acquire Thornton Beach

Bogged down for lack of interest today is the proposal that the city acquire the 24 acre site of Thornton Beach which would afford Daly City a park on the ocean.

Almost a year ago A. J. Bodien, public works superintendent and member of the county planning commission, suggested the city acquire the beach lands. The council seemed to go along with the idea, but wanted more information.

Bodien learned that the county was going to deed the property, located just below the Skyline-Alemany intersection, to the state. The city could then acquire the beach lands from the state.

One Hitch

The one hitch was that the state would not give Daly City clear title to the area. However, they agreed to lease it to the city for a period of 50 years at a $1 a year fee, with an option that the city could take up the lease again for another 50 years.

"This is merely a formality," Bodien explained today. "The state makes it a policy not to give up any lands in order to keep its mineral rights."

With this information, Bodien met with the mayor and officials from Sacramento. That was six months ago, and as yet neither the mayor nor the council has made any move one way or another.

Meeting Planned

However, today Bodien said he was working on a plan whereby the city officials soon may meet with the county planning commission and state parks and shoreline commission.

The public works superintendent asserted that it was a wise idea for the city to accept the beach, as it would give this community a beautiful park on the ocean.

"Of course, there would be no need to develop it today, or next year, but at least it would be ours for future beautification," Bodien declared.

Second Suggestion

Ed Cavagnaro, former Daly City councilman, takes another view of the situation. He, as many local residents, believes the county should take over the job of cleaning up the beach.

"Here we are paying in our taxes, and what do we get?" Cavagnaro queried today. "I think the county should give us in the north county a break on this deal."

Bodien said the county absolutely would not go for such a deal. He stated any beach lands developed would not be so near the north end of the county, but rather midway between Daly City and Half Moon Bay.

"This gives everyone in the county an opportunity to enjoy a beach," Bodien said. "Whereas if it were up at this end, only those in Daly City would benefit from it."

CHURCH WELCOMES GUEST SPEAKER

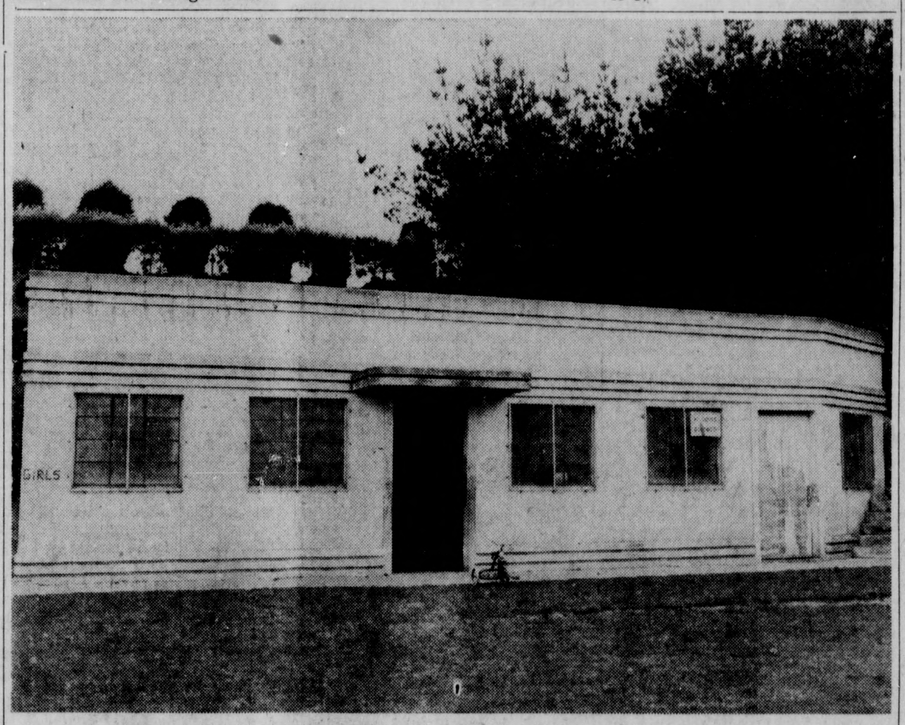
Everyone is invited to hear the guest speaker at the Hope Lutheran Church at the Community Center, 87th and White streets, Sunday morning at 11.

The special speaker will be the Rev. Al Kurtz, Jr., of the Burlingame Lutheran church. His subject has been announced as "He Hath Done All Things Well."

San Bruno Woman Is Issued Citation Here

Issued a citation for going thru a traffic signal last Friday, Mrs. Vandalin B. Wall, 900 Angus avenue, San Bruno, was released on $5 bail, pending her appearance in Daly City court August 24.

Mrs. Wall pled not guilty to the charge when taken into custody by Daly City police.



ALTHOUGH THE OUTSIDE of the building at Marchbanks Park is in much better condition than the inside, it still is in need of painting. (Photo by Pat Corner)

California Last Week

THE GOVERNOR spent most of the week in Santa Monica, resting after a strenuous bill signing period; named Frank Durkee, veteran department of public works employee as temporary director succeeding Charles H. Purcell and also named Carma R. Zimmerman, Washington State librarian, as California State Librarian to succeed Mabel Gillis, retired.

THE LEGISLATURE: Senate committee on un-American activities organized, re-elected Senator Hugh M. Burns, Fresno, chairman and heard Richard Combs, counsel, state he believes a number of former Communists are turning informer but that the Red underground is getting stronger.

THE DEPARTMENTS: State Board of Equalization met and deadlocked over the question of whether to equalize utility and common property assessments which are now at wide variance; agriculture issued rules for fig marketing program; employment said emportation of Mexican nationals could solve the approaching farm labor shortage; bureau of milk control allowed 14 more milk marketing areas a one cent increase after office of price stabilization approval in Washington, which made the increases almost unanimous throughout the state; highway patrol commissioner Clifford Peterson assigned a special squad to the Bayshore highway in an attempt to curtail accidents on the dangerous stretch of road.

Miscellaneous: Central Valleys of California celebrated opening of huge water projuect which brings water from Shasta Dam to Bakersfield.

Trained squirrels, which wave the American flag and do other stunts, will be presented six times daily during the California State Fair, August 30 through September 9.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Record welcomes any letter on any event of public, or private interest. These letters are published at no expense to the writer. There are just two requirements: the letters must be signed, and must be within the laws of libel. We hope readers will show enough interest in their city to occasionally "sound off;" for the purpose of this column is to give you, the reader, a chance to express an opinion.

School Board

Resident Illustrates Futility Of Taking Board Minutes Verbatim

1852 Sweetwood Dr.
Colma 25, California
August 4, 1951

To the Editor:

Probably therewas no betterway to demonstarte the impracticability of taking minutes of the Elementary School Board meetings "verbatim" than to print the purportedly verbatim minutes of the last meetings. If Charles Becker and I mysteriously were amalgamated into Charles Beckerman, and if many of us who spoke at that meeting read statements attributed to us with surprise (at their contents) of wonder (as to their meaning), such inconveniences can presumably be tolerated in passing, if they point the way toward a practical solution of the problem of how actually to take the minutes. But I am certain that as a permanent institution such a record of Board meetings as the one appearing in the Record could result not in a clear account of what happened but only in greater confusion and some very indignant citizens.

It should be obvious that Mrs. Landess, the secretary, is not to blame. Let any one who knows shorthand try to record even the casual conversation of a friend. Then imagine trying to record the vigorous discussion, involving several people at once upon occasion, which frequently characterizes public meetings — especially good ones. Such a transcript can be made accurately only by a specially skilled person, a court reporter, or more likely in ordinary circumstances, by a machine—stenotype, tape recorder, or dictograph.

There is one of the several incomplete, erroneous, or garbled remarks printed after my name which I should like publicly corrected. I prefaced my statement about the need for landscapping at the Garden Village School with the important point that I did not wish such work to be done at the expense of the Westlake School. This part of my comment is missing from the "verbatim" minutes. Without it, my remarks are not placed on the record accurately, are they?

I remember learning in a college biology class that a drawing of what one sees through a microscope is more accurate than a photograph (how clever, I had thought myself when I protested the laborious work of observing and selecting and recording in favor of the "verbatim" transcript of the camera!) because one can select what is important and eliminate irrelevant details. So too a secretary whose mind is free of the burden of trying to get a verbatim transcription could produce a summary record which ultimately is more accurate than the minutes we've been talking about. Any Board member who, upon hearing minutes read, feels that his stand on a question has not been noted accurately will have the usual privilage of asking for corrections or additions.

No one, I am sure will question the importance of knowing each Board member's point of view. May I suggest that the best way to insure public knowledge is not alone through accurate minutes, but through greater public attendance at Board meetings.

Sincerely,
(Signed) Merritt T. Beckerman

Marine In Korea Thanks The Record For Sending Him The Paper Each Week

July 31, 1951
Hongchon, Korea

The Record:

I'm now off the lines with my outfit, which is the Marine Corps.

I thought I'd write and tell you how much I enjoy the paper.

We are here to build up our moral, and the home town paper is the most important.

I like to hear about the people back home and the changes that have taken place.

It's hard to get mail to us, but the paper always comes through.

Thanks again for the enjoyment that sending me the paper has brought.

Yours truly,
Cpl. Leo A. Bricker

From A Corner

By Bill Katz

It may come as a great blow to parents (whose memory of college is dim) but there are some students who do cheat.

This is nothing new, but it seems to have created quite a furore at West Point.

As everyone knows, some 80 or 90 cadets have been accused of cribbing, and face expulsion from the army. (Or at least from a chance at becoming an officer... seems the draft boards don't give a hoot whether a draftee cheats, and have threatened to welcome the cadets as privates.)

Captain Speaks

Frankly, all the excitement is a little bewildering. We're certain any ex-soldier who knew a West Point officer well enough to down a beer with him was let into the secret of cribbing at the Point. A friend of ours, who is now a captain, and a very good one, makes no bones about having saved his bars by his telescopic sight in one exam. He claims, however, this was but once.

This isn't to say that all West Point graduates passed tests without knowledge. As our captain friend added, they are in the minority.

Football Teams

A good section of that "minority" consists of the great Army football teams. This was brought out in the recent expose, and it has us wondering about the other teams that made it through school without ever having been caught. What does the government plan to do with those boys, especially the ones who have won promotion under fire!

It hasn't been said how, or why the Point suddenly decided to crack down on the class of '51. And it isn't because the instructors knew nothing before about the state of affairs. After all, a teacher who works with a man for four years soon gets to know his capacity for learning, as well as his tendency to use any means to pass.

Clean House

No, it appears to us instead of canning the cadets there should be a wholesale cleaning of the instructors. Those gents knew what was going on, or if they had been good teachers, should have known.

Put yourself in the spot of the average cadet. He's a guy with more than the run-of-the-mill intelligence, still he has a rugged batch of tests to pass in four years. He looks around and sees one or two violating the honor system. He sees that they're going to pass, and if he doesn't do a little cribbing he's done. As we understand it, a certain bunch of the cadets are flunked each year as grades are based on the class average, not on individual merit.

Tough Choice

At this point the cadet can either cheat and pass, or keep his honor and flunk. It's a tough choice to make, and one 90 cadets had to face. They were human, and did what a good many others would have done.

Now, if the instructors had been on hand to put a stop to the few who started the cheating ball rolling, the choice would never have had to be made. If long ago someone had woken up to the obvious fact that a strong football team doesn't always have a strong mind, the cadets not playing ball wouldn't have had to make the choice.

In our opinion we feel the 90 cadets (or at least a good many of them) are victims to a system of negligent instruction, rather than a violation of honor.

But at any rate this is one question on which everyone can have an opinion...what price honor!

The price is too high to pay if the world in general has completely lost the meaning of honor and the Point in particular didn't care to really examine it until 1951.

Mens Group To Meet Friday

The Lutheran Church of Our Savior men's brotherhood will meet at the church parlors, Garfield and Junipero Serra Boulevard on August 17th, at 7:30 p.m.

All men of the community are cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Sunday School and Bible Classes are at 9:45 a.m. every Sunday, and Divine Services are at 8:30 and 11 a.m.

The Rev. Robert G. Konselman, B. D., extends a cordial welcome to Daly City residents to visit this growing Lutheran Church just across the County Line. The phone numbers are JU. 4-8501 and JU. 4-0293.

Alameda Officer Gets Men Arrested Here

Turned over to Deputy Sheriff Marks of Alameda county Thursday morning were two men arrested by Daly City officers Wednesday. The men were wanted for car theft and suspicion of petty theft in Alameda county. They were apprehended here when they tried to sell spark plugs to a Daly City gas station attendant.

The men are James Roy and Earl Shelley Robertson and in their car officers found 42 boxes of spark plugs and two fuel pumps. It was suspected that 8 of these boxes of spark plugs were stolen in Alameda county.

Broadmoor Fete Set Saturday

Interesting entertainment features are being planned for the "Festival" which members of the Westminster Fellowship of the Broadmoor Community Presbyterian church are staging for themselves and their friends at the Broadmoor Youth Center, Saturday beginning at 8 p. m.

A variety of social features has been arranged by the committee in charge of this event, and it is anticipated that a large attendance will be on hand to participate in the fun.

Members of the Westminster Fellowship group are also working on the program for their summer camp outing which takes place from August 20 to August 27.

A cordial invitation is extended to all young persons of intermediate and high school ages to attend the Sunday evening meetings of the Fellowship group which begin at 7.

MGR Party Slated This Saturday

More than 50 members and their families attended the first over-night camping party of Merry-Go-Rounders held in Portola Park last week end.

They camped, barbecued, danced, swam, hiked and then danced some more . . . Saturday afternoon, Saturday night and Sunday, returning home tired and happy late Sunday afternoon.

The next party night of MGR will be Saturday, August 11, in Buri Buri auditorium. On the committee for the evening are: Frank and Margaret Keri, Irma Angelini, Gladys and John Blades, Florence and Bill Finney, and Edgar and Ida Jones.

Registration is now open to all intermediate and advanced folk dancers. Anyone who has attained the above status may become a member of this popular group, which meets each Friday night for dancing and instruction at Buri Buri auditorium, with Ken and Dorothy Sprague doing the instructing. MGR is now well into its second year of activity.

Local Man Slated For Court Appearance

Scheduled to appear Friday afternoon in Daly City court on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated is Norbert F. Sherwood, 448 Woodrow street, who was taken into custody by local police Monday. He was released on bail of $125 pending his appearance in court Friday.

Sherwood first attracted the attention of police as he was driving south on Mission in an erratic manner. Then he attempted to make a right turn into Citrus avenue which he failed to negotiate. Instead his car jumped the curb and struck an arterial stop sign jarring it loose at its concrete base.

VILLAGE NOTES

TALK OF THE TOWN

By DIANE DALY

Vignettes on Vacation

When one goes on a vacation it seems to be the prime objective of most persons to "get away from it all," so to speak, leave the usual habits and surroundings and concentrate on losing the routines which regulate their everyday lives.

In this little resort community, on the shores of a lovely fresh water lake, one finds the summer collection of individuals bent on doing just that. Like a postman on a holiday, the surprising thing about it all is that after the first few days, ingrained habits are not only hard to loose, they are well nigh impossible.

Take the case of the young school teacher and her husband who are vacationing here. Almost every morning she holds a regular class out on the raft, unknowingly of course, but nevertheless her manner of talking and her cool and authoritative logic, holds her listeners like a magnet. The subjects of course are not academic and often introduced by a teenager or whoever happens to be out there. Nevertheless, she holds undisputed sway, with a background of study, environment and habit that will not be denied.

Mrs. Brown, a very affable and busy middleaged person, comes here every year, and knows every one by their first and last names. For the most part she can tell you a lot of their personal history as well. Believe me, here she can tell you what time they go to bed and in what condition! Mrs. Brown, who resides in a small Marin town is the town matriarch and is the first to know everything...It is easy to see her vacation is not one from her usual pursuits—

Then we have another charming young matron, who is (and I speak advisedly) one of the "best dressed women on the peninsula." Daytimes she can be found dungaree clad, or in a bathing suit, calmly knitting an exquisite creation in pink and gold wool, or surveying Vogue or Harpers with objective plans for her Fall and Winter wardrobe. Evenings finds her turned out like something out of a band-box or modelling for Saks Fifth Ave...Another creature of habit...but plenty easy on the eyes!

Not so easy on the eyes or ears are the couple who have decided to get away from the city, from the bars and the bad influences in their lives. After one slight disagreement they can be heard by their close neighbors, going through their usual pattern of hard and callous conversation with each other, inevitably winding up drinking beyond their capacity, and far beyond their resolution to change.

A very sweet, but overworked young mother with several small fry was cozily ensconced with her brood for a summer's relaxation, and what do you suppose she did today? Just a little thing like gathering pails of ripe berries and putting up a dozen jars of jam! The hard way of course.

The man who is tending the resort store is really a paying guest, owner of a big super-market, no less, but after several days of isolation and rest, he volunteered to do the job, gratis, and is his happy self again! The man who helped fix the water system last week, was (couldn't you guess), a plumber on vacation.

Even yours truly, who was determined to go to bed early and get up late, am guilty of burning the midnight oil and awakening at dawn. I am still interested in people and places and things, and I just conclude that our habits are a part of us, and even with the pressure off as we vacation, we are still aligned with our second nature.

For better or worse....

DEAR PARENTS

By Jane Keith

Of all the headaches suffered by mankind, perhaps the nearest to "migraine" is the visiting relative. Complete rest in bed, no visitors, soothing compresses and aspirin constitute the only known remedy for the physical ailment, but what to do about the "visitors" is still wide open to suggestion and conjecture!

"No beds!" one woman told me in a burst of confidence. "If you just don't have any beds for them to sleep on—well, they soon get the idea."

"That SOUNDS good" came from across the coffee table, "but what if they bring their sleeping bags—the way mine do? For my money, it's the food that causes all the trouble!"

"Ah, FOOD" the ladies echoed. "She's right there, all right, but what can you do about it?" The cups clinked to their saucers and six pairs of shoulders bowed in defeat.

"Let's skip the food" murmured a sprightly brunette with a grudge in her voice "and get back to this relative problem. My biggest gripe is the way they hint about my children! If they don't like the way my children eat, sleep, play or talk or even talk back to me—why in heaven's name don't they leave. This eternal Johnny is such a sweet boy, but shouldn't he have, well, just a little more good old fashioned discipline? Frankly, I get plain fed up and wish they would take themselves some place far away—

"Ha" cried a little blonde with a permanent mother-in-law. "Just think what it means when they don't even bother to say 'but'—You have a fighting chance anyway," she added bitterly, choking down her coffee.

"Now girls," said the hostess grasping both horns of the dilema, "let's keep personalities out of this. Have some more coffee," and turning to her right added "how 'bout your opinion, Mary—you haven't given us your two cents worth yet."

"I," smiled Mary dryly, "am a self made orphan. I now live in a one room apartment with a bathroom down the hall...and for five days a week, it isn't too bad." Mary let the rest trail off into silence as the doorbell shrilled in the kitchen.

"Well, Darlings! What an unexpected surprise—come in, come in—I want you to meet some of my neighbors. This is Aunt Hattie, girls, all the way from Texas and—" the hostess paused to listen to a whisper from her newly arrived relative, her face blanching slightly under its pancake makeup. "George and Steven are in the car with the bags, you said. She gave a wild look at the faces around the table and added "just think, Aunt Hattie says she and the boys will be here for two whole delightful weeks."

Mickey Allan Arrives At No. 2 Vista Grande

Congratulations are being extended to Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Brownlow, 2 Vista Grande, on the arrival of a second son, born Sunday at the South San Francisco hospital.

The fourth member of the Brownlow family weighed five pounds, 11 ounces and has been named Micky Allan.

The Browndows, whose other son is named Gary Wayne, moved to Daly City from Amarillo, Texas, three months ago. Brownlow is the brother of Mrs. Jackie Bryant of this city.

Cowboy Band To Entertain

The Daly City Cowboy band, known for their renditions of Western ballads and outstanding rhythms, will play at the Colombo Hall barn-dance scheduled for August 18.

The "Cowboys" were formerly called the Eagles' "Haywire Band" and they have a large following throughout the Bay area.

Members of the band include Bert Meritt, mandolin and banjo; Glen Minezer, guitar; Ernie Lantz, accordian; Art St. Charles, steel guitar, and Joe Lewkowitz, bull riddle.

Lutherans Open Service Center

Next Sunday, August 12, the Lutheran Service Center for all military personnel of the Greater Bay Area will be opened at the King George Hotel, 334 Mason Street. "Open House" will be held from 3 to 7 p. m., which will give everyone the opportunity to visit and inspect the Center with its many facilities.

At 4 o'clock there will be a short program including the Chapel Gleen Club of Treasure Island as one of the features.

The Service Center is being sponsored by the National Lutheran Council and the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. Two full time Service Pastors have been assigned to the Center. The Rev. J. Henry Meyer representing the first mentioned Lutheran body and the Rev. Edwin C. Sohn representing the latter.

Bethel Lutheran Church, Alemany Blvd. and Huron Ave. is affiliated with the Mo. Synod which is sponsoring this Center.

Shower Given Sunday For Dunsmuir Guest

As a delightful and complete surprise to the guest of honor, a stork shower was given by Mrs. Marcella Lange and Mrs. Frances Kneebone at the home of the former, 255 Irvington street, last Friday, for Mrs. Thomas Kneebone of Dunsmuir, California.

The table was artistically decorated in pink and blue arrangements and was centered with a large cake iced in the same colors, featuring the greeting, "Welcome Little Stranger."

The honored guest is the daughter-in-law of Mrs. Frances Kneebone whose house guest she has been for the past two weeks. The younger Mrs. Kneebone's husband is in the service stationed at Fort Benning, Georgia. At present he is attending radio school as part of his military training.

Feting Mrs. Kneebone at the shower were: Mary Torres, Cora Rogers, Frances Kneebone, Elsie Heagney, Hazel Schofield, Gwendolyn Pfeiffer, Victoria Moore, Dora Knoche, Mary Reichmann, Josephine Pereira, Daisy Crews, Enes Mei, Bernice Olguin, Lorraine Tonelli, Ida Penny, Lena Tonelli, Alberta Cesio, Carolyn Corey, Beatrice McCarthy, Ethel Allen, Lois Doggett, Marcella Lange and Kitty Kneebone.

Local Persons In Minor Accidents

Two women required treatment at Junipero Serra hospital this week when they were involved in minor automobile accidents.

Mrs. Marie Johnson, 273 Templeton avenue, was taken to the hospital in a Daly City police car following her accident at Templeton and Mission streets last Saturday. Mrs. Johnson swerved her car to the right to avoid hitting another car, only to have her vehicle jump the curb and run into the front of the city pump station.

Although Mrs. Johnson's car was considerably banged up, damage to the building was slight.

Also taken to the hospital following a minor car accident was Mrs. Esther Yormark, 495 27th ave., San Francisco. Sunday the car in which she and Albert Yormark were riding was in collision with a car driven by Ernest Torres, 16 E. 5th st., Pittsburgh. The accident occurred at the intersection of Junipero Serra blvd. and School st. both cars were damaged to the extent that they had to be towed to a garage.

Automobiles driven by Frank Stefanoff, 563 Niantic ave., and William Bettencourt, 326 Woodrow st., were involved in a collision in front of 563 Niantic st. last Thursday night. The right front fender was torn off Stefanoff's car while the other car was slightly damaged at the rear left side.

Another accident in which the San Francisco driver received a citation for failure to have a driver's license, occurred in front of 7240 Mission street Monday. Persons involved were Antonio B. Torres, 270 Los Banos avenue and Robert E. Allen, 1449 Chestnut st., San Francisco. Both cars were damaged slightly.

Local Pooch Wins Ribbon

That a blue ribbon dog is included among the pet population of Daly City is evidenced by the honor won by the airdale terrier owned by Mrs. R. Van Over, 205 Woodrow street at the annual dog show of the American Kennel Club held Sunday at Bay Meadows.

The aristocrat, Flashlight Lady Gloria, by name, won first place in her classification and brought home besides a blue ribbon, a silver cake server.

The father of the Daly City winner was Flashlight Red Rider and he, too, was a champion. The Van Overs have raised the current winner from a three months old pup.

A dream comes true!
MORE WATER FOR CALIFORNIA FARMS!
Today water from Mt. Shasta flows through the canals of the great Central Valley Project. Californians have won a 16-year struggle with Nature to bring more water to the San Joaquin Valley, to add new agricultural wealth to the state.
CVP was conceived by the people of California. In 1935, they called in the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation to do the construction job. And today that job is practically finished.
All California profits, for since the business of our cities is largely dependent on agriculture, what benefits the farmer benefits everyone.

HOW P.G. and E. HELPS PAY FOR THE CENTRAL VALLEY PROJECT and makes its water more useful...

Saves CVP users millions! Construction costs of CVP will total over 600 million dollars. This is to be repaid in 2 ways: 1) by sale of water; 2) by sale of electric power generated as a by-product. Already P. G. and E. has paid 37 million dollars to CVP for Shasta Dam power; and that power is transported to 5,000,000 Californians—everyone within reach of our lines. Our purchase of Shasta power reduces cost of irrigation water to farmers.

Aids in solving water problems. P. G. and E.'s Farm Power Advisory staff and pump testing crews are ready to help farmers get irrigation water at lowest cost. For those who switch from electric pumping to gravity irrigation, our men will assist in change-over plans. For the great majority who will continue electric pumping, our technicians will help solve water table problems. And as always, P. G. and E.'s Farm Advisory service is free.

Power rates among lowest in U.S. Electric pumping of irrigation water averages only 3½% of crop production costs. Yet it is largely responsible for California farmers' high income — income which is three times the national average. Electricity and gas are both cheap in California, for P. G. and E. rates are far below the U. S. average. Other costs have skyrocketed since 1940, but P. G. and E. prices are still low—and are today's big bargain.

Folk Dance Festival Slated At Jefferson High September 3

Characterized by a magnificent spectacle, the second annual folk dance festival sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department will take place the afternoon and evening of Labor Day, September 3 at the Jefferson Union High School.

The Calico Clickers, local folk dance club, will be hosts for this outstanding event which includes both exhibition numbers and dancing for the general public.

According to Raymond Pabst, general chairman of the project, plans are underway to make the festival this year of such elaborateness that it will surpass even last year's highly successful event. Many unusual features are being added to make this festival the most colorful one northern

At the present time there are in the Daly City-Colma area, two boy scout troops, four cub packs, California has had to date.

Dancing in the afternoon will be from 1:30 to 5:30, and in the evening there will be a square dance jamboree from 7:30 to 10:30. Guest callers will include some of the top callers in northern California, all members of the Square Dance Callers Association.

Announcement is made that there will be plenty of room for spectators and non-dancers who are invited to watch the colorful affair, authentic costumes and the unusual exhibitions that are being planned.

A few openings for exhibitions are still available and any group wishing to participate is advised to contact Mr. Pabst at DE 3-7567.

Wanted: A Love Bird (Female) To Pitch Woo (Bird Style)

Mr. Edwin Cuneo, 681 San Diego Avenue, literally got the bird Sunday July 22. He found a love bird basking in the sun in his backyard and realizing that the love bird is not native to California, he promptly bagged said bird.

Using a piece of bread within a paper bag as bait, he enticed the hungry criter into a trap. He then borrowed a bird cage from a neighbor, bought some love bird bird seed, and allowed the disaffectionate love bird to set up housekeeping.

"Bill" or "Coo"?

Mrs. Corinne Riccomi, Mr. Cuneo's daughter reports that "Bill" or "Coo" (how does one determine the sex of a love bird) is as affectionate as his name implies.

"I think he's afraid of us;" she said, "he sits down and hides in a corner of his cage."

He's Cute—But

"We think he's cute," Mrs Riccomi said, "but we don't have time to take care of him. We don't want to break up a happy home — he may have a mate."

Fearing that the bird may die of a broken heart because he is without the affection to which he is accustomed, Mrs. Riccomi said that her father would like to find the bird's owner.

Will Forget All

If anyone knows of a love-sick love bird who is willing to forget all and share his (or her) bird seed with a lost mate, Mr. Cuneo's love bird will consider terms of reconciliation. Please phone PLaza 5-5087.

LIONS CLUB PLANS PICNIC

City Attorney Guest Speaker At Meeting

During last Wednesday's meeting of the Lions Club, the members decided to hold a picnic on Wednesday evening, September 12, according to Mr. Joseph Belli. Mr. Elton McGraw was chosen as picnic chairman.

City Attorney Frank Blum was guest speaker at the Wednesday meeting. He spoke to the members about city administration and a question-answer period was conducted at the end of his talk.

Mr. George Glasse and Peter Markovich, new Lions Club members, were presented with lapel pins and framed membership certifications.

Unable to attend the meeting was Mr. Walter Rector, who was recovering from an appendectomy.

Winner of the Lions Club weekly jackpot was Dr. Leo Mahan, who successfully answered three questions.

Thrilling speedboat races will be held on the giant acquatic course in the race track infield both Sundays during the California State Fair, August 30 through September 9.

Civic Leaders Gather To Aid Local Scouting

Public spirited men and organizations of the Daly City-Colma area are now being asked to lend their active suport to building up and stimulating increased interest in the boy scout movement in the northern San Mateo county territory.

Although within the past two years there has been a large increase in membership in the Boy Scout and Cub groups here, there is room for still greater development of these youth organizations in this area. Philip K. Swartz is district scout executive.

The extent to which this much needed increased development can proceed depends entirely upon the support which is forthcoming from adults of the territory, and for that reason this area will now be canvassed in order to contact all those who are willing to work to further Boy Scout and Cub activities.

Edward Plummer, leader of the local scout troop No. 49, will be in charge of an extensive program this fall to train future boy scout leaders who are expected to be signed up within the next few weeks.

Funds for the scouting program are to be raised by some 60 local business men.

Under the leadership of Mayor James Paul Green, the fund collecting group has been broken down into Captains, Lieutenants and Salesmen.

The Captains include: Councilman Fred Bertetta, Peter Markovich, Walter Rector and Ted Hopman.

Among the Lieutenants are: Lyal Ingersoll, Frank Lombardi and Tom Tromborg.

Dinner Planned

These men are to meet at the Grace Presbyterian Church Tuesday, August 14 to discuss plans for a 48 hour fund raising campaign.

Further details will be printed in The Record during the next two to three weeks.

and one sea explorer group. Included among the expansion program is the vital need for leaders to take charge of scout troops into which the cub pack members will be graduated as soon as these boys become of age fo rthe more adult organization.

Citizens' Poll

Hillside Needs Traffic Control

Need for better traffic regulation on Hillside Boulevard was apparent today.

Residents of that area contacted expressed dissatisfaction with the present system of controls and speed limit.

Nearly all of these citizens believe traffic on Hillside Boulevard is a threat to the safety of their children.

While the street is within the city limits any action as to putting in new stop signs and signals must first be cleared by the state.

The Record, therefore, would suggest that in the interest of public safety the city council immediately look into this problem and seek some solution.

(The need for such action was highlighted this past week-end when several persons, including a child, suffered injuries on the Boulevard. See further details on page 1.)

Following are the answers of residents in the immediate area of Hillside Boulevard who were asked what their opinions were on current traffic regulations:

Mrs. Maurice J. Clark, 37 Muirwood, said "I can't say that I'm satisfied with the traffic situation on Hillside. I won't let my children go down there because of the speeding cars."

"Maybe a decreased speedlimit would help."

Mrs. Phillip V. Gray, 117 E. Vista, said, "Well, I haven't paid much attention to that area. We live on top of the hill and I don't know much about the problem."

Mrs. M. S. Franco, 90 Garwood, said, "No, I'm not satisfied. I think cars travel too fast down there. It's too hazardous for children. I have a five-year-old child who's going to school in the Fall and I'm more afraid to have him cross Hillside than Mission street."

Mrs. R. E. O'Connor, 81 Muirwood drive, said, "Well, I really don't know much about the problem, but I agree that cars cut along Hillside pretty fast."

Mrs. J. B. Gaston, 16 Cottonwood drive, said, "Cars really race by on Hillside; it's hazardous with all those children down there."

"In other townships there are police officers to arrest offenders. We used to see an officer patroling this area in the morning when we first moved here five years ago, but we only see an occasional policeman now."

Mrs. Mary Adlung, 189 Gambetta, said, "I'm not in a position to say that traffic condition are satisfactory on Hillside, but I do believe cars travel too fast there."

Mrs. Orlando Lacayo, 34 Garwood, said, "I'm definitely not satisfied; I think they go too fast. I have four children of my own and it's very dangerous when the children wander down the hill to Hillside boulevard."

Mr. J. E. Hickey, 135 E. Vista, said, "My wife and I think there is accessive speed on Hillside. A yellow caution blinker installed on the curve of Hillside near the new building might help. There may be a lot more kids playing around that new building in the future and it may be very hazardous."

Cost Of Living

Don't Blame Your Corner Grocer For High Prices...Look To The Farmer

Sacramento (CNS) — Some of the fancy price increases the housewife encounters these days on her visits to the corner grocery store appear somewhat hard to explain, but the California crop and livestock reporting service's monthly bulletins have some of the reasons.

The service, of course, deals principally with raw materials as they are sold off the farm. It maintains a ten-year average index of approximately 30 commodities, covering the basic materials which are translated into the products Mrs. Housewife buys over the counter.

The most recent survey indicates that out of the 30 products, all but four, and these are citrus fruits, have increased over the prices of a year ago, in varying percentages.

Wheat Prices

The annual average, for instance, over a ten year period, of wheat, one of the major cereals of the state, shows the farmer received $1.70 per bushel for the product from 1941 to 1950, but the July, 1951 figure was $2.15 per bushel. In July, 1950, the average was $2.01 cents per bushel.

This nearly 21 per cent increase over the ten year average explains in good measure some of the increases in bread and other wheat commodities when costs of processing, such as making the wheat into flour, baking the bread, and distributing it to the retailers are taken into consideration.

Again, the wholesale receipts of farmers or dairy producers, for milk during the ten year period averaged $3.58 per 100 pounds, which is a cent a hundred pounds over the average for dairymen all over the United States.

But the price received by farmers in July averaged $4.35 per hundred pounds, nearly 18 per cent. This in some measure, explains, or at least it is used by the milk trust as a basis for argument, the increase of a cent a quart retail recently granted by the State Deaprtment of Agriculture.

Vicious Circle

The price increases travel in a vicious circle as far as the buying public is concerned. Milk cows, the report says, averaged $158 a head over the ten year period. But the average price for a milk cow in July was $180. Feed, likewise has gone up, with alfalfa baled at $21.04 per ton over the ten year period and now at $27.40.

Biggest increase is in the price of beef cattle which the ten year average places at $15.54 per hundred weight, and the July price at $28 per hundred weight, and from all indications in terms of sirloin steaks the prices are not destined, at least, to go down. Similarly, other meats such as lamb and hogs have shown heavy increases over the ten year average, but not as great as has beef.

What value the ten year average has in a period of inflationary increases is questionable, yet it may be important to know just what the monthly increases are over the prices of a ten year period, to determine the degrees of inflation the state and nation are undergoing, and the crop and livestock reporting service serves as a good index to make such a determination.

They Danced & They Danced & They Danced

by Ridgely Cummings

The Palladium is a dance hall in downtown Hollywood, midway between the modernistic temples on Sunset Boulevard which house the radio activities of NBC and CBS.

It is a little smaller than a polo field and not quite so airy. Nevertheless, it is large enough to present a problem to a visitor expecting to identify someone.

Ordinarily I am no frequenter of dance halls. Not because of any moral objections but simply due to a lethargic nature which my friends are rude enough to call laziness.

So I might have spent months in Hollywood without ever seeing more of the Palladium than the neon lights outside advertising the presence of Stan Kenton, Ralph Flanagan, Les Brown or Woody Herman. But fate, in the guise of some frivolous acquaintances who were out on a weekend party, ruled otherwise.

Epic Due

I had been wiling away an hour with the song writers who congregrate at the corner of Sunset and Vine, gathering material for an epic which will shortly appear in this space, when my dancing friends spotted me through the glass wall and came in and dragged me bodily out.

Ordinarily such determined hospitality would have been flattering. But I soon learned that it wasn't my charm which had put me in demand. They had an extra girl with them, an out-of-town visitor, and hadn't been able to scare up a partner for her on short notice.

She was a pleasant appearing girl, leggy, a little large in the teeth and protuberent in the eye but curved in all the right places despite her height, which was close to mine. We can call her Marge, just in case a copy of this ever gets as far east as Framingham, Mass.

The other two couples and Marge and I strolled a block down the boulevard toward the marquee spelling out the names of Jimmy Dorsey and somebody named Teagarden. I think it was Johnny Teagarden but wouldn't bet on it. Anyway I'm sure it was Jimmy Dorsey and his orchestra for just the previous week I had watched Tommy Dorsey, the trombone player, rehearse with Bing Crosby and Joe Venuti and had learned that both brothers were in town.

Tie Needed

At the ticket window I learned something new about the mechanics of respectability. The girl selling tickets looked at my sport shirt and told me I was de trop unless I acquired a necktie. We held a council of war and Marge looked so disappointed that I agreed to go home, not very far away, and put on a tie.

We arranged to meet at the bar and they went on in. Once I was home and put on the tie I decided it didn't look good with the sport shirt. So I took off the shirt. Then I decided since I had my shirt off I might as well shave.

What with one thing and another it was nearly an hour before I got back to the Palladium. A goodly throng was swaying rhytnmically on the floor and a large number of wallflowers were standing on the outskirts. They were the usual types, sharply dressed men running to pencil mustaches, chewing gum and smoking cigarettes and looking over the girls with critical eyes, the girls themselves bright and gay but a little haggard underneath, gazing intently at the dancers but acutely conscious of the scrutiny of prospective partners.

One Beer

I made my way to the bar and ordered a beer. No Marge was in sight. When I was half finished I noticed another bar on the other side of the hall. I went over there for another beer. Still no Marge, nor her companions either.

Exploring the place further, I found myself on the mezzanine, where there was still another bar, this one for soft drinks. While I was in the orangeade section there came a burst of applause from the floor and Jimmy Dorsey escorted a guest artist to the stage. It was Hoagy Carmichael, composer of "Star Dust" among other things.

I sat down to watch Mr. Carmichael sing a song about the African jungle and as luck would have it sat next to a beautiful little blonde number in a white evening gown and a glowing tan. We talked briefly of missionaries, tom-toms and musicians and the next thing I knew I had my arm around the tan shoulders and my legs tangled up in the white dress, pushing the little number around the floor.

We danced past one of my friends and wound up at their table in still another part of the hall. Introductions were made and I learned that my little blonde was engaged to a saxophone player and was waiting for him to finish work.

We sat there drinking, getting up to dance occasionally. After a while I remembered Marge and asked where she was.

Basketball Wins

"She met a boy from Framingham," said one of the women. "They'll dance by presently. See, there she is now, with that tall chap. She's deliriously happy."

He was indeed a tall chap, about six feet four. I learned later he had played basketball in college.

Marge danced every dance. She gave me a radiant smile as she said good night. The leaning tower was driving her home. Her final words set a profound philosophical note to the whole evening. I know readers dislike being bothered with heavy dialogue but ask indulgence in this special case because of the originality of her expression. She said:

"You took an awful long time to get a tie. But I'm glad. It's a small world, isn't it?"

No other food gives you so much for so little!

In these days of stretching the food dollar you can't do better than drink more milk and use more milk in your daily menus. For only a few cents a day one quart of milk provides half your daily food requirements... more different dietary essentials than found in any other food at any price!

Only in America is such food economy possible. California provides the finest quality milk at prices far below the national average.

Rich in flavor... rich in health... rich in economy!

Yes—for mealtime, all-time health and refreshment... for enjoyment or body-building food value no other food gives you so much for so little!

Qualified Men Now Needed To Form New National Guard Company Here

Lieutenant Thos. B. Parlatt, CNGR, who is now organizing Company B. 14th Battalion, California National Guard Reserve, is making a request of the Mayors of South San Francisco, Daly City and San Bruno to issue a joint proclamation urging residents to accept commissions or enlist in this unit, which will meet at the Recreation Center, Tanforan Naval Base, after recognition.

"I feel that there is a grave misunderstanding about the California National Guard Reserve," said Lt. Parlatt, "It is not subject to call into federal service under any circumstances. On the other hand, membership therein does not prevent any individual from being called into federal service, if he is an active reserve officer or subject to draft."

"The CNGR will not be called to full time active duty except in the event of a grave emergency, such as a bombing," continued the lieutenant, "and joining now will not interfere with employment. If called to active duty under the circumstances noted, then members will receive the same pay and allowances from the State as members of the federal armed forces."

Enlistment is open for all men of 17 years to 65 years, and minor physical defects will be waived. Veterans may enlist in the highest rank honorably held by them in federal service, and officers may be similarly commissioned.

Companies of the 14th Battalion are now functioning at San Mateo and Redwood City, and one is in the process of organization in Palo Alto-Menlo Park area. Standing as they do at the very gateway of the San Francisco Peninsula, the cities of Daly City, South San Francisco and San Bruno will be the first to feel the impact of any war-made catastrophe to San Francisco. For that reason, to protect their homes and those of their neighbors, it is urgent that Company B be organized without delay.

Emphasis is being laid upon quality rather than quantity as the men who join now will form the hard core of the expanded organization at a later date. At least two lieutenants and five enlisted men are needed for state recognition, and the full cadre strength of enlisted men is now set at 20. The fully authorized strength of the company is 5 officers and 135 enlisted men.

"May I ask that anyone knowing of an eligible man, contact me at OXford 7-8223," concluded Lt. Parlett, "And that the merchants and business men of these communities get behind this movement. If a situation arises at any future time that the peace officers can not contain, it must be recalled that the National Guard will be in federal service, and even possibly abroad. We of the California National Guard Reserve will then be needed to help preserve law and order, but to do this we must be organized and trained now. Help Company B come into being and a credit to your communities."

OLD SOLDIERS

Three guys named Joe, with whiskers way down to here, are giving an ironic touch to sports these days. Also a shot in the arm.

There's nothing like youth and Hadacol but Jersey Joe Walcott, Joe Louis and Joltin' Joe Di Maggio are doing right proud on their own power. Like the four-starred Cadet who never dies, the three Joes are taking their time about fading away. Fans know the trio have outworn their welcome up front but what's to be done? Jersey Joe is a spanking new heavy champ, shuffling Joe has new life to recapture his title and the Jolter still cleans up from the fourth slot in the Yankee lineup.

These grandaddys are delaying that trip to the rocking chair as long as they can. So long as this tireless trio are able to "stay in there" they intend to reap the box-office harvest. Call it love of trade, money-madness, or what have you, it's still nice to have your name in lights and a paycheck coming in. And despite the public-souring on the old-timers, people still gowhole hog over the ancients. The turnout for the Louis-Brion fight is example enough. The Cow Palace was jammed although Andy Walker and the Brown Bomber loused up the joint months ago. One born every minute, folks keep going back for more.

TWO ANGLES

Back in 1946, Joe Louis remarked before meeting Billy Conn, "he can run, but he can't hide." The prophecy now has backfired on the dead-serious Detroiter. Jersey Joe intends to "run and hide" all over with exhibitions before he has to defend his championship. The boys at the shop call it "getting while the getting is good." The family man from Camben, New Jersey, might as well take advantage of his office. He probably uation may benefit boxing, strange as it seems. Ezzard Charles is first in line, but a flock of guys who tip the scales beyond 175 are gunning for a ride on glory road, won't win the next election in June.

While the heavyweight showdown appears months off, the sit-Rocky Marciano, Rex Layne,young Clarence Henry, and possibly Harry "Kid" Mathews are youngsters to be heard from. Marciano and Layne are eligible but they'll have to wait in line and wait the verdict of the monopolistic International Boxing Club. Youth can wait, while the seconds tick faster for Louis, who may never catch the street car.

At any rate, a real elimination tournament is reality now among the many hopefuls. As for Louis, let him beat Marciano and/or Layne in the meantime. If he make a clean sweep hurrah for him. If not, why should he be given priority over the kids in the division. After all, who is Cesar Brion? And Lee Savold? Absolutely nobodys. Even Pat Valentino, the poor man's Georgeous George, could waltz the distance with the hamburgers. With only a little comeback training.

A motto for all title chasers is: "meet the best, beat the best, deserve the best." This is the only way fans will get their money's worth and boxing will be better for it. It's a part of a business cycle, the fight game. Good merchandise will sell fast; poor stock will bring out the "for sale" sign. Buy what you want, it's your money!

SAGE SUGGESTION

One Sunday, not too long ago, Walter Winchell, the man with the exclusives, came up with another "first." The famous inside-informer nominated Joe DiMaggio for commisioner of baseball. A noble suggestion, that, but it wouldn's work. DiMaggio is known as moody. He has a mind of his own, isn't afraid to say so. The major league owners couldn't make him a stooge, a marionette. That's the prime qualification for the job, according to the owners.

LIQUORS DEFEAT REGAL PALE 2-0

In a close, hard fought contest Vince & Fred's defeated Regal Pale 2-0 last Sunday at Marchbanks Park before an exceptionally large crowd.

A tight pitcher's duel, liquorman pitcher Bruno Della Libbra gave up four well-scattered hits while the liquors made five hits.

Neil Decker's two-base blow with a follow up single by Joe Gray scored the first run and became the margin of victory for the liquormen.

Vince & Fred's will play their last game of the season in AA summer league competition next Sunday against the San Francisco Athletic Club at Marchbanks Park; starting time will be 2 o'clock.

PHONE BILL HIKE REQUESTED HERE

Daly City residents today faced the possibility of paying 20 to 30 cents more a month for their telephones.

The request for a rate increase was made by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company allegedly to meet the higher wage boost recently granted telephone operators.

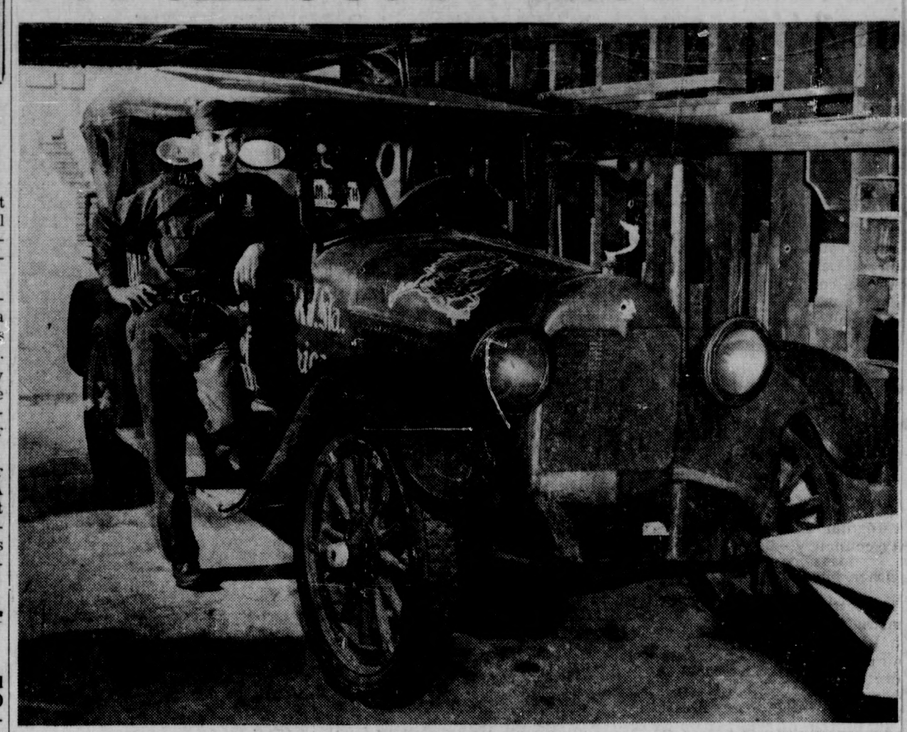
Not only has the company requested an increase for private phones, but has also called for pay telephone calls to be boosted from five to 10 cents.

DRAFTEES MAY ENLIST UNTIL AUGUST 31

The opportunity for young men who have received their preinduction processing to enlist in the service of their choice has been extended to August 31st, it was announced today by Army and Air Force Recruiting Officials in San Francisco.

The extension is the second of its kind to be granted potential inductees by selective service officials, and gives them the opportunity to choose a technical branch of the Army or enlist in the Air Force if qualified.

SHE MAY LOOK LIKE JUNK, BUT SHE'S JOE'S TRUE LOVE



Elgin may be a trade name for a wrist watch to most people, but not to Joe Lewkowitz, proprietor of the Richfield service station at Bepler street and San Jose avenue, who owns a 1919 Elgin automobile.

He purchased his $35 Elgin from a teen-ager in Daly City in settlement of an unpaid bill. Joe said that he has spent over $500 for a new transmission, ignition system, and an overhauled engine.

Although the car stays in a garage most of the time, Joe has driven it in numerous Daly City parades.

The Elgin "6" four-door touring sedan was manufactured by the now defunct Elgin Motor Co. for $3,000, which is comparable to paying $8,000 for a car today.

There are only 24,000 miles registered on the mileage gauge and Joe said he has travelled 85 miles an hour in his ancient vehicle.

The original canvas top is still on the car, but there are no side windows. The 33x4 tires seem monstrous in proportion to the tires of a modern automobile.

Instead of conventional full springs, the Elgin Co. installed half springs in their 1919 model. The motor, which was manufactured by the Fall's Motor Co., is a six-cylinder overhead valve arrangement, similar to the Chevy's power plant.

Joe also owns a 1921 Buick, which is in good running order. Very rarely are these cars seen on American highways today.

SPORTSMAN'S CALENDAR

The Division of Fish and Game reminds California sportsmen of the following general regulations which apply to current hunting and fishing:

COCKLES

Closed in all counties north of San Luis Obispo County. No closed season elsewhere. Bag limit: 50. Minimum size limit: 1½ inches.

Venison Steak Will Be Legal Next Saturday

When the first of two California deer hunting seasons opens at one-half hour before sunrise, Saturday, August 11, prospects for bagging a buck or two will range from excellent to very poor.

The advance word on expected hunting conditions comes from the State's corps of fish and game warndens. In their annual preseason predictions, the men in green put portions of Mendocino and Stanislaus counties in the "excellent" class, while portions of Los Angeles, Mendocino, and Monterey counties qualify for "poor" ratings when the season opens.

Two bucks is the seasonal bag limit in the central and south coastal regions, which close to hunting September 16. Portions of 27 Coast Range counties are included in the early season.

The wardens were unanimous in their warnings about extreme fire hazards and the necessity for obtaining permission to hunt on private property.

By counties, the August 11 deer hunting prospects:

Alameda—Fair. High fire hazard. Much land posted.

Contra Costa—Good. Many areas closed to hunting by landowners.

Fresno—Fair. Prospects better in Coalinga area.

Glenn—Good. Best bets: Mendocino National Forest, Black Butte, Grindstone Canyon and Sheetiron Mountain areas.

Kern—Fair. Best in Frazier Mountain-Lebec area and opened areas of Los Padres Forest.

Lake—Fair. Deer scarce but in top condition. Best bets: Elk, Hull, Goat, and Cow Mountain areas.

Los Angeles—Poor. Much land privately owned or in refuge and fire closure areas.

Mendocino—Excellent to poor. Best bets: west of Thorn and Usal Road area, and from Four Corners along Whale Gulch. Excellent in Anderson Valley area. Generally poor in northern portion of the county.

Monterey—Good. Many bucks in south county, with northern areas poor to fair hunting. Good along coast, in Carmel Valley and Chews Ridge area. Liggett military reservation closed.

Napa—Good. Most deer hunting land closed to public.

Orange—Fair. Most land posted or closed because of fire hazard.

San Benito—Good. Deer abundant and in good shape.

San Joaquin—Good. Very little open area. Much land posted.

Santa Barbara—Good. Public hunting mainly limited to Figueroa Mountain area in Los Padres National Forest.

Santa Clara—Fair. Deer in good shape. Normal season expected.

Santa Cruz—Fair. County has closed 60 square miles.

Sonoma—Good. Much posted property. High fire hazard.

Stanislaus — Excellent. Open season on west side only. Much private property has been posted.

Ventura — Fair. Best public hunting expected in Pine, Pinos, and Alamo Mountain areas. Extreme fire hazard.

The Palace of the Governors at Santa Fe, New Mexico, is the only royal palace ever built on United States soil.

Daly City Resident To Lead Coaching Of San Francisco State This Year

Coach Joe Verducci begins his second season as football coach at San Francisco State against the Lewis and Clark team September 15, in Portland.

The following weekend Verducci brings his team home to meet the San Diego State team at Cox Stadium. For "L'l Joe" this really means home, for he lives in Westlake just a short distance from the State campus.

Since 1917 his parents have lived in Daly City where "coach Joe" was raised and attended Crocker Tract Grammar school.

In college he played for the University of California in 1931-32-33 as a quarterback. In '32 and '33 he won his block "C," and the Andy Smith Memorial Scholarship.

Verducci came to State last year and after two years as head coach at St. Mary's. In 1949 he was chosen Northern California Coach of the Year. Prior to this he was grid mentor at Polytechnical High School in San Francisco. Over a seven year period his teams compiled the enviable record of 56 wins against 6 losses and 6 ties. During the war he served three years as head coach of the Alameda Coast Guard team.

Last season at State Verducci's eleven won 6 of their 7 games and won the Far Western Conference championship for the first time in the college's history. State met Lewis and Clark in the Pear Bowl but lost to the powerful team, which will be the opener this year.

San Mateo County Property Tax Levy Upped

Each penny of county-wide property tax rate levied by San Mateo county on 1950-51 valuations meant a levy of $23,186 based on 1950-51 valuations of $231,855,817, California Taxpayers' Association said today.

"If 1951-52 taxable valuation of property in the county is greater than for 1950-51, then each cent of county-wide tax rate will result in a still greater levy," the association pointed out.

The same thing holds for the tax rates of cities, school districts, and special districts.

Each cent of county-wide tax rate for 1941-42 meant a levy of $12,498 in the county for that year.

Each cent of county-wide tax rate for 1950-51 meant a levy of $23,186 in the county for the year just closed.

How each penny of county-wide rate will produce for 1951-52 depends on the final valuation of taxable property in the county.

"Tax rates in California are levied by cents per $100 of taxable valuation, rather than by dollars per $1,000," the Taxpayers' association declared.

"And tax rates creep upward by cents—each of them seemingly a small thing in itself—but all contributing to a formidable tax bill in California.

"If taxes are to be held down, budgets must be kept under control. Valuations and tax rates are just the end result of how much money must be raised—which depends on how much is budgeted."

Post Office Aids Handicapped

Postmaster John F. Fixa today announced that in cooperation with the President's Committee on National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, a special cancellation die bearing the slogan, "Hire The Handicapped, It's Good Business" is now in use and will continue to be used until November 30, 1951.

Collectors desiring this special cancellation may send their self addressed, prepaid envelopes to the Postmaster, San Francisco with the request that the special cancellation slogan be applied.

Mr. Fixa further added that all mail trucks in San Francisco will carry posters during the month of August calling attention to the National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week.

Money Moves Out Brink Moves In

Although on a much smaller scale than its nationally famed counterpart, serial numbers of stolen money and the name Brink made police news in Daly City this week.

Mrs. Benedetta Minute, who is staying at a motel in Oakland, reported to local officers early last Sunday morning that her purse had been stolen while she was in a booth at the Central Creamery.

The purse contained $420 in American Express Travelers cheques, the serial numbers of which are all in the possession of the police. The cheques were purchased July 2 from the Pioneer Bank.

And the name Brink? Anyone finding any of these stolen cheques is asked to contact Mr. Brink at the American Express Company at 253 Post street, San Francisco.

Dog Vanishes Into Thin Air

How can a small, black dog vanish into thin air!! This is the puzzle that confronts Mrs. Viola Stigman, 438 Winchester street, whose pet disappeared Tuesday.

Mrs. Stigman is employed away from home during the day and the dog is kept inside the Stigman back yard which is enclosed with a solid board fence some five feet, six inches high. The only entrance into this yard is through the garage, whose heavy outside door is always kept locked.

Other features to add to the mystery of the pooch's disappearance are that the Stigman house is attached to neighbors' residences on both sides, and that the neighbors saw no strangers near the Stigman home Tuesday during the hours that marked the dog's vanishing.

Furthermore, states Mrs. Stigman, the pet whose name is Blackie, could not have left by burrowing under the fence because the glaring evidence of this means of departure is lacking.

So how did Blackie get out of the Stigman yard and where is he! If anyone finds a small, black cocker spaniel wearing a red leather collar he is asked to contact Mrs. Stigman.

But even if Blackie is located, finding out from him how he did his Houdini act, that's something else again.

Smiling happily over their achievement in winning awards in The Record's coloring contest, here are last week's winners with Miss Gertrude Clark, co-owner of the R & R Baby Shop. In front is four-year-old Jan Lee Guldberg, 20 Forest Grove drive, who won first prize of a sweater from the R & R Baby Shop. In back of her is Carolyn Dennis, 9, 156 Mateo avenue, who merited third place and won six passes to the Daly City theatre. The other youngster is Bobby Galli, 8, of 167 Miriam street, whose second place award was a knife from the Daly City Hardware store.

Boy Spends Sunday With Law

Because his mother thought that he had gone fishing with his father, three-year-old Martin Buhler, 20 Granada street, San Francisco, spent last Sunday afternoon in the Daly City police station where he was even served lunch.

Martin was discovered by an officer Sunday noon as he was wandering across Mission street and narrowly escaping being struck by a passing motorist. He was brought to the local police station.

Officers here contacted various other precinct stations to find out if there was a missing persons bulletin on the boy but without result.

Finally that evening the boy's mother, Mrs. Floyd Buhler, came into the Daly City police station to find the child and cleared up the misunderstanding of why he had been in charge of local officers all afternoon.

Bekins Warehouse To Go Up Soon On J. S. Boulevard

Bekins Furniture Company announced today that within the year it plans to begin work on a five-story $250,000 furniture warehouse on Junipero Serra Boulevard.

The building will be located on the Boulevard between School and Westlake avenue.

Although present zoning laws allow a limit of three stories in Daly City, the council has made an exception for the warehouse.

Councilmen explain the building will be of reinforced concrete and in a business district. Consequently the waiver of the usual regulation was made.

Tax Situation

State Taxes Have Doubled Over The Past Six Years ... 18 pct. Last Year

State taxes doubled over a six year period ending July 1, 1951, according to the California State Chamber of Commerce.

A study by the organization showed all state taxes collected in California in the fiscal year ending July 1, 1951 reached $1,115,000,000—an increase of 100 per cent over the 1944-45 fiscal year. Compared with last year's total tax bill of $946,159,426, this represented an 18 per cent increase.

Lloyd W. Dinkelspiel, chairman of the Chamber's statewide tax committee, pointed out that a large part of this year's state tax increase went for subventions and shared taxes with county and city governments.

Subventions and state shared taxes increased from $165,400,000 in 1944-45 to $555,137,000 in 1950-51, or 235 per cent.

Property taxes levied by county and city governments and school and special districts during this same period rose from $345,972,490 to $806,000,000 according to State Chamber estimate on a basis of actual levies. This was an increase of 133 per cent.

Sales taxes, by far the greatest source of revenue for the State, brought in $401,218,928 in 1950-51. This was 167 per cent greater than the $150,314,238 collected in the last year of the war and more than the entire state tax bill of a decade ago. In 1940-41 the total of all state taxes was $361,144,588, Dinkelspiel added.

Unemployment insurance taxes after dropping from $164,162,201 in 1944-45 to a low of $113,237,675 during the 1948-49 post-war readjustment period, climbed beyond the World War II level to $172,500,162 in 1951.

Other state taxes which showed considerable gain over the six year period were: Gasoline taxes which rose to $144,016,360 in 1951, a 227 per cent increase over the $43,947,936 collected in 1944-45; bank and corporation taxes, $98,427,994, or 69 per cent over the $58,017,090 levy during the last year of the war. Personal income taxes showed a 60 per cent increase with $75,516,448 collected in 1951 as compared with $47,133,088 in 1944-45.

School district taxes, the largest single item in local property taxes rose from $124,020,441 in 1944-45 to $320,000,000 in 1950-51, a gain of 158 per cent.

LEADERS REPORT ON WEEK'S WORK

ARTS AND CRAFTS
by Regina Warchot

This week at Arts and Crafts the children strung their own beads and their own jewelry. As they walked around looking like the latest fashion plates out of "Vogue," no one but an older person would have guessed that their inexpensive accessories were made out of macaroni.

Last week all the children were worrying about the Arts and Crafts Exhibit which will be held the last week of August. Many children under 8 years of age are still needed to take part in the exhibit. If you can draw, trace and paste, will you please go to your playground on Arts and Crafts day and sign up.

LINCOLN PLAYGROUND
by Donald Woll

Friday, August 3 was the date of the individual park's doll show. And what dolls!! There was such a variety of dolls (and stuffed animals) that all the dolls got at least two certificates. There was 33 dolls in all. Among the many who brought dolls, were Barbara Heffron, Linda Weinholt, Teresa Benanti, Rita Mae Goodrich, Lonny Goodrich, Toni Rai Longera, Marilyn Laskey, Karen Ward, Diane Smyser, Carolyn Smyser, Pamela Morie, Judy Montioni, Jackie Lundy, and Carole and Diane Ciolino. The most original doll or stuffed animal was a brown life-like monkey brought by Lonnie Goodrich.

Lincoln Park played Alice Chalmers Playground in softball again. Lincoln won by a score of 23 to 3. The big hitting stars for Lincoln were Ray Schmitke, 5 for 6; Joe Fisher, 4 for 7; and Laray Hutchinson, Don Wilson, and "Ted" Jennings each had 3 for 6. The big gun for Alice Chalmers was Bill Techer with 4 for 5.

Lincoln Park's softball, baseball and basketball teams are anxious to play any team desiring competition.

Bob Morris beat Judy Liberti's week old record of 62½ seconds (riding bicycle 5 laps for park record) Bob sped around the fog-laden track on Thursday August 2, in record-breaking time of 56 seconds flat.

Also in the way of park records, Dick Moquin leads the boys in free throws (most out of 25), with 20 good ones. Jean leads the girls, and close to Dick's record, with 19. The Ping Pong and Checker Tournament which started last week is still in progress.

JEFFERSON HIGH
by M. Erickson and L. Reese

Jefferson High Playground had a busy week last week. Monday the Game Room was filled to capacity for both performances of the Laurel and Hardy picture, "Great Guns."

On Wednesday, August 1. tournaments were held in Checkers, Pool, Jacks and Ping Pong. It was the first Pool tournament of the season. There was so much enthusiasm that another tournament will probably be held next Wednesday. Al Gerrins and Herman Stevenson were the winners while Don Rossi and John Schwaninger came in second place.

Results in the Jacks Tournament were: Girls, first, Sandra Gonzales; second, Pam Hix, and third, Jo Ann Meadows. Boys, first, Al Gerrans; second, Dick Kalinin; third, George Rocci.

Jo Ann Meadows, Sandra Gonzales, and Carol Saumer placed 1st, 2nd, and 3rd, respectively in the Girls Checker Tournament. De Wayne Soares defeated Jim Rector to become the Champion of the Boy's Checker Tournament.

As usual the Ping Pong Tournament was carried on with much interest. Benny Peralta defeated his runner-up, De Wayne Soares to win the Boy's Tournament. Donna Shulda and Pam Hix again vied for 1st place, Donna was the winner, Yvonne Willford placed 3rd.

On Friday, the Doll Show was held at 1:30 p.m. Results were as follows, listing only first places: Ann Nolan, doll with prettiest hair; Sharon Ray, biggest doll; Bill Hix, doll with babiest face; Barabara Gerrans, doll with hair most like human; Gerry d'Antonie, second place for the best hair style and prettiest hair; Benny Peralta, prettiest hat; Diane Linnares, third place for best hair style; Larry Kennedy, doll with best hair style and also ugliest doll; John Schwaninger, most unusual doll and also smallest doll; Jerry Kennedy, second place for smallest doll; Terry Peralta, doll with prettiest eyes, best dressed doll and prettiest doll.

MARCHBANKS PARK
by Bucky Linhares

On Wednesday and Thursday of last week, Marchbanks held a double tournament, one in Ping Pong and the other in Pool. The most exciting was the ping pong, since the participants were all very fine players.

Among those competing were Bernard Villa, Bob Gieseker, Donald Pike, Tony Gardenal, Tony Ny, Ron Goennings, Johnny Seltzer. A favorite to win from the start, Lonald Pike came through to take the Park Championship.

The Pool Tournament, which was in doubles, was won by the team of Mike Sibitz and Nick Hitchiner. Some of the others playing were Kenny Day, Bob Gieseker, Marcus Glover, Nick Carassi, Joe Sacchierie, Jim Caruso, George Fresenborg and Bernard Villa.

Friday of the same week was the scene of a Doll Show at Marchbanks. About forty dolls were put on display for judgement and prizes. A few of the winners were Darlene Cross, Linda Angle, Barbara Chapman, Nancy Cameron, Jo Ann Angle, Doris and Gabriela, Melendez, Doris Weis, Stephen Cain, Peter and Maragaret Lindstrom, and Diane Newman. After the judging and awardswere made, games were played by the children in attendance.

This week the city wide table tennis tournament will be held at J. U. H. S. in the game room. Those entering from Marchbanks included Lonald Pike, Nick Hitchiner, Tony Garbenal and John Seltzer.

Next week Marchbanks will have tournaments in shuffle board, bowling, checkers and pick-up sticks. Also a swimming meet will be held at 10:00 a.m. Friday August 17, at the High School Pool.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

by Henry C. MacArthur

(CNS)—Stepped up activity on the part of the State Division of Real Estate to halt the machinations of the "unethical" real estate man have been noticed lately.

In regard to such activity, D. D. Watson, State Real Estate Commissioner, and a former broker, says his department is ever on the alert for deals and procedures which might be in violation of the State Real Estate Act.

One of the principal items Watson is having his staff watch is the transmission of subdivision reports to purchasers of property in new tracts.

Unlawful

It is unlawful, he points out, to accept a deposit receipt, or execute an agreement of sale on any lot, improved or unimproved, until the prospective purchaser has been given a true copy of the public report the law requires the commissioner to make, has had opportunity to read the report, and the prospective purchaser's receipt taken for the report.

This is a fairly extensive provision of the law, in view of the many new subdivisions being opened throughout the state, and of the material which such reports are supposed to contain. They deal with such matters as streets, sanitation, water and the other utilities lot buyers are interested in when purchasing a site either for speculation or a new home.

Must File

Also, there is a requirement in the law for subdivider's to file an "intention to sell" with the real estate commissioner before placing lots on the market. Watson pointed out that one individual in Sacramento was fined $250 and given a 90-day suspended sentence for failure to file such an intention, and selling four lots on top of it. The law requires that any sales of broken up property of more than four pieces be treated as a subdivision.

Then too, the real estate commissioner is keeping his eye open for "criminal records." The state law provides that in applications for licenses, the applicant's law violation record must be written in.

This is regardless of how minor the law violation may seem to the applicant for a salesman's license, or his employing broker, Watson says, and if the applicant falsifies answers to the question, this is of great concern to the commissioner, as it is a strong indication as to the truthfulness of the applicant.

Not Minor

"The Commissioner," said Watson, "Does not consider that drunk driving, manslaughter on the highways and similar convictions are minor. Making a false statement on the application concerning a minor crime is often considered more serious than the conviction of the crime in determining the honesty of the applicant."

In line with applications, Watson said that while salesmen's licenses are on the increase, there were 1,000 fewer brokers licenses issued last year. This, he pointed out, was the result of more stringent law governing the issuance of a broker license.
